Emotional Check-in

Emotional Check-In. Can you check in with a family member and discuss how you are feeling? You might feel worried, sad, happy, excited or tired. It is important to check in with your well-being before starting a new day of home learning.

ERIC

Do not forget to record in your reading diary this morning. Can you use your reading diary prompts on the back page to make sure you write a detailed response? Audio books are also a great way to listen to stories!

Maths

Spelling

Your spelling words this week are homophones. Homophones are words that sound the same but are spelt different and have different meanings. We would like for you to practice and learn them using the methods and activities that we do in school with you.

Here are your 15 words:

1. there
2. their
3. they're
4. knight
5. night
6. blue
7. blew
8. your
9. you're
10. hair
11. hare
12. eight
13. ate
14. hear
15. here

For today we would like you to look over the words and ensure that you understand what they all mean. If you don't, you could repair these words by breaking them down, asking somebody to help you with the meaning or by looking them up in dictionary (this could be an online dictionary too).

Once you have done this, try putting them into a sentence to help you secure the meaning of each word.

English – Writing

For your English task over the next week, we would like for you to continue with the diary entries that you have began working towards, and writing, last week.

Here is a reminder of what you had began to do:

Now we know the story of Icarus, we would like you to write a diary from Daedalus' point of view, describing his adventure.

You could do several different entries on diary days to show how his emotions change.

For example: Entry 1: excitement and designing the labyrinth and being proud of his work

Entry 2: Being locked in the labyrinth and plotting to escape

Entry 3: The day of Icarus' flight and how it goes wrong

You already written lovely diary entries last term from the point of the view of the lion in The Butterfly Lion, so think back to the skills needed in a diary today. Read the list below and begin planning your first section ready to write tomorrow.
